A NECKLACE

Is the first ornament of which there is any record. An endless variety of Necklaces are now very fashionable, although by no means equally so. Those most in vogue this season are of gold or platinum set with precious or semi-precious stones with catenary curves and pendants attached to the master-chain, long in front and shortened to the chain itself at the back. We have now an immense stock of Necklets, charming creations in art finish of gold and platinum: termaline and pearl; apua marine and pearl; perildot and pearl; diamonds and pearl, etc. The majority of these are suitable to hang a fine diamoud, pearl or enamel pendant upon.

Silence is Golden

Why does the finest Champagne ever imported into this country resemble silence?

Because it is golden-good as gold, and because it is MUMM.

> Remember, "MUMM'S" the word when you want the best.

The most critical palates and most sensitive digestions can use this peerless Champagne without any fear of unpleasant after effects.

When Royal banquets, important public functions, and connoisseurs' exacting tastes are taken into consideration, the endorsement is still stronger, as practically no other Champagne is used other than G. H. Mumm & Co.'s.

VICTORIA CHARMS RUDYARD KIPLING

Laureate of Empire Says it is Waste of Time to Look for Beauty Here

ALTERNATIVE TO ASIATICS

He Says it is People From the Old Country-South Afri-

sion to work without nope of present reward.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudyard Kipling arrived yesterday on the Charmer and fatigued by the long journey and the many calls it entails upon people in the public eye, they repaired immediately to the Oak Bay hotel, where the Colonist reporter found him. The scenic beauties of Victoria were evidently uppermost in his mind, for in response to a question as to his movements, Mr. Kipling said:

"I am going to take a motor drive to see the beauties of the place. But I really don't see why I should move away from here. In Victoria it is a waste of time to look for beauty. It

Mr. Kipling kept the conversation tway as much as possible from him-self and his works till the interviewer self and his works till the interviewer asked the question that nearly everyone who has head his great novel. "Kim," is asking.
"Are you going to write a sequel to 'Kim,' Mr. Kipling?"

Much of Mr. Kipling's recent work has dealt with South Africa. He was there during part of the war and has visited the country frequently since. Naturally he takes the keenest interest in the situation, which he will hap rehension. Asked how things were in South Africa, he replied:

how things were in South Africa, he replied:

"Very bad; at least they seemed so when I left. A great risk has been taken there, and time alone can tell how it will work out. We have given the country over to the Boers, and placed in their hands all the resources and machinery of government. It is not merely because they were recently our bitter enemies that this is dangerous. It is because they do not know anything about representative government as we know it. They have neverhad it, and they do not understand it. They have many thorny problems to solve. How will they use their power?"

liquidating trust, the evidence adduced today shows that the so-called oil trust only affected to dissolve under the order of the Ohio courts in 1892, and that its direction is still held by those who had to do with the formation of the Standard Oil trust.

Statements submitted today stated in brief that at the inception of the Standard Oil trust in 1882 there was $70,000,000 in trust certificates issued for stocks of various companies which entered the combine in the trust period from 1882 to 1892. A stock dividend of $15,000,000 was declared, and this, with other stocks issued for plant purchases, brought the total capitalization of the Standard up to $97,250,000. As a result of a decision of the supreme court of Ohio forbidding the trustees from voting the trust certificates, there was a resolution passed directing that the trust be dissolved.

Mr. Fay read the statement in the record today showing that the day following the passage of that resolution 54 companies were consolidation of New Jersey and 19 other subsidiaries of the trust. On November 30, 1892, the witness read from statements, there were 494,619 trust certificates presented for cancellation, and to the sholders were given their pro rata shares in the 20 subsidiary companies which them made up the trust.

There were also offered for cancellation, two months later, some 30,000 which then made up the trust.

There were also offered for cancellation, two months later, some 30,000 trust certificates. There was a lapse of over four years before any certificates were presented for cancellation. Mr. Kellogg sought to show that those who held control of the trust, with the exception of a few friends, were the only ones who liquidated their trust certificates, and that by liquidated. also tried to show that those who liquidated their trust certificates and took the stocks of the subsidiary companies were John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, H. M. Flagler, Benj. Brewster, J. B. Archbold, H. H. Rogers, W. H. Tilford, C. W. Harness, estate of C. B. Jennings, Emma Auchlincless, estate of Chas. Pratt, and O. Mr. Kellogg after the adjournment made the following statement concerning the developments in the hearcerning the developments in the near-ing:

"The evidence today consisted large-ly of statements from the books of the trustees of the Standard Oil Trust. This is the first time these books have ever been made public. It appears that on March 21, 1892, the trustees claimed to liquidate the trust by divithat on March 21, 1892, the trustees claimed to liquidate the trust by division of all the stock pro-rata among the certificate holders. As a matter of fact, it appears that on April 1, 1882, before any division of the stock in the hands of the trustees was made the trustees turned over to the Standard Oil company of New York, and various other companies controlled by the trustees, the stocks of 61 corporations, leaving in their hands the stocks of 20 corporations only. The stocks of these 20 corporations they divided into parts equal to the number of trust certificates outstanding, and it appeared by the exhibit that on November 30, 1892, a bare majority of the outstanding certificates, to-wit, $49,461,900, par value, were cancelled (out of the total ispic of $97,250,000), and a proportionate amount of the stocks of the twenty subsidiary companies distributed to the persons who surrendered their trust certificates.

"But it also appeared that the only or four of their immediate associates. The trustees, therefore, instead of distributing the stocks of all the companies, turned over sixty-four of them to companies which they controlled, and distributed the stock simply to themselves.

and distributed the stock simply to themselves.

"The stock belonging to the trust was turned over by the trustees so that during the years of the pretended liquidation, from 1892 to 1899, the the trustees controlled all the corporations in the same manner as before.

"We produced today a statement showing the earnings of the trustees from 1892 to 1891 and the dividends individually, but the dividends during the period of liquidation have not yet been made up."

no satisfactory explanation of his motive for sending the machines, and seemed to have no other purpose than to cause a sensation.

Bigelow, who is 21 years old, arrived in Denver several weeks ago and secured a position in a book and stationery store. He said he was the son of C. L. Bigelow, superintendent of schools in Bryan, Ohio.

On Sunday night Bigelow notified the police department that he had overheard two men talking about a plot to kill Ed. Chase, Governor Buchtell and other prominent citizens, and that Chase's residence was to be blown up that night. A search in the vicinity of the Chase residence resulted in the discovery of a package containing 31 sticks of dynamite. Bigelow, story was regarded with suppicion, and he was placed under arrest on Monday night. Today he confessed that he had put the dynamite near Mr. Chase's house, where it was found and that he had sent several infernal machines by mail. Had this confession not been obtained in time to give warning, those who opened the boxes containing the dynamite would undoubtedly have been killed.

Many Priests and Prominent Antiquaries Said to Be Implicated

Paris, Oct. S.—A great sensation has been caused by the remarkable confession of Antone Thomas, of Clermont Ferrand, who was arrested with his mother and his brother charged with complicity in the theft of the famous cope of Orth, which belonged to the state and was valued at $120,000, from the church of Ambazac, near Limoges.

Thomas, who gave himself up to clear his mother and brother, declared that after the passage of the church and state separation law, and the taking of the church inventories began, antiquaries of Faris, some of whom are millionaires, hired him and others to go through the country and bribe the parish priests to surrender the relies and substitute counterfeits, which could be later turned over to the state. He said this plan of operation continued for months, but as many of the most valuable church treasures could not be counterfeited, he finally went boldly into the business of wholesale burglary.

Thomas says he sold the cope of Increased docking facilities for Victoria harbor was one of the important subjects of discussion at yesternay's meeting of the council of the coard of trade. It seemed to be the cheral opinion of the council that while adequate facilities might exist or the shipping now frequenting the lort, that provision should be made or future traffic which is likely to teadily increase in volume. There as no disposition displayed to act astily in such an important matter, at it was agreed to bring the question up before the quarterly meeting in the board, which will be held next riday, when the views of the memers will be ventilated.

Heat and Power Proposed.

Among the communications read was one from the Maine Light, Heat and Power Co., which was referred to the committee on manufactures for reply.

Secretary Board of Trade, Victoria, B.C., Canada:

My Dear Sir.—We have the best lighting machine in the United States, not only for lighting, but for cooking and running gas engines for power? We have a large number of plants installed, and many valuable testimonials, and have a perfected machine with new features entirely protected by patents in this country and Canada.

What would be the prospects of establishing a factory in Victoria or Vancouver to supply the Northwest with lights, cooking and power gas, far cheaper than kerosene oil?

We would send a stock machine to your city with a representative to set the machine up and show its advantages, etc.

We have a large number installed in this cold state, none of which have attempted to freeze with its thermometer at 48 degrees below zero. We have many installed on farms, lighting both the house and barn, with englines sawing wood, grinding and cutting feed.

considered that it usually flow and cases to move the powers that be, and if to this were added the time required for completing such a scheme, it would readily be conceded that a start should be made at once. This view commended itself to the council and it was agreed that the matter should be taken at the part meeting of the board.

Get-Rich-Quick Scheme Fails to Work-Trusting Woman Only Victim

If it was easy money that he was looking for, Victoria proved the last place in which he should have worked his get-rich-quick schemes, and while he succeeded, by his high-flown description of his wealth and tales of rich connections in deluding a fond and confiding woman into marrying him after an acquaintance of but little over a week, J. C. Westaway, alias J. K. Waters, alias J. Knowles, a smooth in-dividual from Uncle Sam's domain, literally crawled when confronted by the local police.

Confessing that his pretentions to the ownership of fabulously rich platium mines in the South Pacific were pure fakes, the man of many aliases consented to depart from the city. His conversation with the police authorities was but a brief one, but it did not take him an instant to recognize that he was strictly up against it, and the next boat carried him away from Victoria.

he was strictly up against it, and the next boat carried him away from Victoria.

Within the past month there appeared in this city an advertisment to the effect that the owner of a platinum mine, situated, as the advertisement vaguely stated "on an island in the Pacific ocean owned by the United States" was looking or agents to handle the rich mineral wealth of the island. Those contemplating taking $1,000, thus obtaining an interest in the property and becoming the agency were required to put up $1,000, thus obtaining an interest in the property and becoming the agent in Victoria. Prospectuses found on Westaway or Waters stated that "I will not tell you the name of the island but if you desire to take this up and show me that you mean business I will take you into my confidence and show you my lease and a chart of the island. This is a safe investment and will yield at the very least $4,000 a month, and will last for fully two years at least. Agents' incomes will never be less than $400 a month."

with Chief of Police Langley, but it did not take long to show that all the chief knew of him was that a day or two prior to this he had called at the chief's office and inquired if a certain person was a member of the force. Such proved to be the case and also proved to be Mr. Westaway's undoing as the individual inquired after quickly recognized Westaway as a party who nine years ago had run a species of assay office in the Five Sisters' block in this city under the name of Knowles and had left the city under a cloud.

To the questions put to him by the police, Westaway declared that he was wealthy, his income averaging $650 a month, that he had large amounts of money on deposit in San Francisco banks, that his country place in southern California was the talk of the state, and that his connections with money on deposit in San Francisco banks, that his country place in southern California was the talk of the state, and that his connections with the leading financiers of that state vouched for his integrity and business standing. Strange to say, however, when the unbelieving detectives still pressed for definite information the man could not give it. Finally he confessed that he had no money, but that his wife, who was with him at one of the local hotels, possessed the family purse. At last his tales of wealth and high connections simmered down to a confession that his wife possessed $150. Wastaway's early indignation gradually merged and an appeal to the officers to let him go, his pleadings being mixed with tearful compliments on their cleveness and hopes that they would be "sports and goodfelows," He also claimed to have sold some platinum here but was unsable to tall the name of the make sold some platinum here but was un-able to tell the name of the man who bought it.

A visit to Mrs. Waters, for that was the name under which he married her, elicited the information that she had elicited the information that she had met her husband but a few days previous to his apprehension by the police, that apparently dazzled by his tales of wealth and his ardent wooing she had consented to be his, and the wedding was solemnized here several local people whose acquaintance "Waters" had made, being present at the ceremony. After the exposure, she left the city for her home in Ontario.

sometimes he called himself Waters and sometimes Wustaway, though he hinted that it was sometimes necessary for men counected with big enterprises to take various names.

When Westaway or Waters Intimated to Chief Langley that he was acquainted with a member of the police staff, he made a fatal error. That member of the force was called in and identified the stranger as a man he had met when on his way west through St. Paul several years ago and whom he afterwards recognized in 1598 here under the name of Knowles.

At that time "Knowles." as he then

Commissioner Babcock Investigates Condition of the Spawning Beds

John B. Babcock, provincial fisheries' commissioner has returned to the city, from a prolonged tour of inspection of the upper Fraser, and the other fisheries of the mainland. Mr. Babcock does not conceal his conviction that the Fraser is failing as a producer of salmon. It is just in line with his predictions of the past four or five years,

Two features with regard to the "Two features with regard to the salmon run this year stand out prominently." he remarked when questioned with regard to the number of salmon which reached the spawning grounds. The run of sockeye salmon was very small and the run of humpbacks very large. The failure of the sockeye to run abundantly was not a surprise to many of those interested. Some of the nockeys prepared to handle a ... or spawning beds four years to produce a good run, and that st every man engaged in the sal-business is preparing for a very season this year. Nevertheless I for a better run and we will pre-for it.'

light season tins year. Averentiess I look for a better run and we will prepare for it.

"A prominent cannery owner and manager on Puget sound stated that he was convinced that the run this year would be better than it was in 1906. He gave as his reason for this belief that there was a big run in 1899. He was convinced from this that the salmon ran-in cycles of eight years instead of four.

"I asked last month the man first quoted what he thought of his prediction in view of the returns. He admitted that he was wrong and that while a 'hunch' might be of use in some other game where the gambling element was greater, it was no use in the cannery business. Instead of filling his cans with sockeye, he had filled them with Jumpback.

"The fallure in the run of the sockeye in the Fraser, river whis year is one of the hardest blows the salmon canning business has ever had. It not only means a loss this year to everyone engaged in the business, canner and fisherman allie, but it also foretells light runs and additional losses for the fature.

"I should have taken more pleasure in the filing of those reports had I been able to have stated to those interested that the industry was in a healthy state—that the spawning beds and the hatcheries of the Fraser were well stocked. I would far rather be known as an optimist than to be called a pessimist, as I was four years aco, because of having stated that if the run of 1977 depended upon the read.

recognized that the humpbacks run every alternate year. That has been the case for a good many years. There was a very heavy run to the Fraser in 1905. There was a poor run in 1903. There was no run in 1904 or 1906. Now the question naturally arises, does the humpbacks mature in two or in four years? There certainly was a poor run of humpbacks to the Fraser in 1903. There was not the seed to produce such a run as that of this year cast on the spawning beds of the Fraser that season. The humpback runs to all the streams tributary to Puget sound. Great numbers run to Fraser below Bridge river, and all the streams tributary to the Thompson south of Shuswap lake were crowded with spawning humpbacks this year. There was an abundant crop of their eggs sown this year, so that either it wo or four years hence there will be another big run. As the canners have found a market for them, they will hereafter figure more largely in the pack. The canners in the state of Washington put up many thousands of cases this year. They even came over onto the Fraser and purchased cans in order to handle the catch.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About three years ago I had intense and in my stomach, with cramps and raging headaches. The doctor prescribed for me, but finding that I did not get any better he examined me and, to my surprise, declared I had a tumor.

"I felt sure that it meant my death warrant, and was very disheartened. I spent hundred of dollars in doctoring, but the tumor kept growing, till the doctor said that aothing but an operation would save me. Fortunately I corresponded with my auntin the New England States, who advised me to try Lydla E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before submitting to an operation, and I at once started taking a regular treatment, finding to my great relief that my general health began to improve, and after three months I noticed that the tumor had reduced in size. I kept on taking the Compound, and in ten months it had entirely disappeared without an operation, and using no medicine but Lydia E. Capt. Mikkleson's journey to the North was a great success, although he falled to discover what he went to seek, which sounds a little paradoxical, but it expresses the truth. He went to find a continent north of America, the reasons for thinking that such a continent existed seemed very convincing. He had the storless of the whalling captains, who reported that while lying off Cape Barrow they had seem mountains on the far northern horizon. He had the tales of the Eskimos to the same effect. He had the care of the Arctic currents, which seemed in explicable upon any other hypothesis than that there was land, where he sought it. He had the existence of what Sir John Markham called "palaeocrystic lee," which could not be explained on any other hypothesis than that there was land north of America, which held fast the lee formed from the fresh water of the Mackengie, the Coppermine and the Great Fish river. Capt. Mikkleson's journey to the North

We are without a full report of Mik-kleson's observations, but from what Mr. Steffanson says it appears that he Mr. Steffanson says it appears that he was able to get as far north as he intended and to take soundings along a line where he expected to find the ocean becoming a shoal, as it would if a continental body of land was near at hand. But instead of the water becoming shoaler, it grew deeper, and, literally speaking, the bottom dropped out of the captain's theories. Great interest will attach to the complete report of Mikkleson's observations. At

In other words, in the hardest year Canada has experienced in a long time the earnings of the railway will probably show a large gain.

she has defended her position and made it secure without firing a shot. But it was because she was able to fight, if need be, that she was in a position to make so excellent a settlement. The new arrangement, while confirming British power, is in line with the policy of King Edward, in that it disperses the clounds that Lave long darkened the herizon and makes for universal peace.—Mall and Empire.

The Tunnel Would Pay.
If the Prince Edward Island tuenel would pay its way, if the need for it, the benefits arising from its construction and benefits arising from its construction and the justice of the island's demands for it be admitted it must be built. The tunnel would pay, beyond reasonable question. The Dominion has already paid the island a million dollars in recognition of rederal failure to provide the continuous steam communication between the island and the mainland guaranteed under the terms of Confederation. Not only did the Dominion thus confess the justice of the Island's claim but it opened the doer for future claims of the same character. The million was only payment on account.—St. John Telegraph.

Not His Funeral

A Matter of Training

The efforts of Sir Frederick Borden to promote the practice of physical exercises in the schools of the country have been quite properly applauded. The value of Sir Frederick's plan needs no arguing. It has been conceded since the beginning of things. The sound mind indeed is impossible without the sound body, no matter what the record of the seeming exceptions to the rule may be. Eventually we assume, under the system which Sir Frederick seeks to establish, the male pupils would make their several marks in the militia. And this in itself would mark the plan for commendation since every Canadian, sound of wind and of limb, of serviceable age and without other impediment should put in his time with the colors, and especially at the butts.

Come in and see the New Vases in the Dutch Delph Display

TEW Vases of exquisite character you'll find in these new arrivals in the China Store. Each is modeled on beautiful lines. The decoration is the "Gauda"—a fascinating underglaze hand-painted effort, in which Irish and Dutch Poppies entwine. The shapes are truly artistic, and the decorations will please the critics—striking specimens of Potter's Art, these. Come in and see these and other nice things in China and Glass we have to offer you. There is a snap and sparkle in all the new arrivals that'll delight you; a maze of attractive specimens that'll surprise you. You're welcome to come in at any time. The new Vases offer you a wide choice as to shape and price, as we have them in a great variety of shapes, ranging in price

After argument by W. A. Macdonald for the crown, and S. S. Taylor for the defense, Mr. Justice Morrison charged the jury. His lordship dealt with the discrepancies in the evidence of the various witnesses, and spoke of the very unsatisfactory character of the evidence generally. Says This Relyful Mixture Should Be Used Promptly

A well known authority states that Backache and pains in the loins' are only too often the danger signals which notify the patient that something is wrong with the Kidneys, and warns every one to be careful, particularly at this period of the year, when the skin pores are closed, forcing the Kidneys to do double their work of filtering the impurities and poisons from the blood and system.

At the first sign of Backache or pain in the region of the Kidneys, or weakness and Urinary trouble, the following simple home recipe should be used. Any one can easily prepare it:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Any good prescription pharmacy will comply these three ingredients at small cost, which can easily be mixed by shaking well in a bottle. Few people seem to know the value of these common remedies in the treatment of the kidneys. This simple prescription, when taken as directed, will regulate the urine, clear up and remove sediment, overcome back pains and cleanse the entire kidney structure, correcting bladder troubles in just a little while.

New Yorker Thinks Victoria Should Have Big Amusement Features

son stated that his visit to this city was one entirely of pleasure.

"I have heard much of Victoria and I believe that any amusement venture would do well here from the manner in which the C. P. R. railway is preparing to boom your city," he remarked. "Canadian centres are somewhat behind American in amusement ventures, though in the east, Montreal and Toronto are waking up. In Montreal W. Dorsey just a couple of years ago inaugurated Dominion park and the venture has been a success from the start. Of course in the Quebec city they reap a harvest on Sundays, which perhaps accounts for the greater returns made by that amusement park than the one in Toronto, which was inaugurated by the zame gentleman who has successfully operated in several American cities."

Mr. Dobson did not care to discuss his plans with regard to Seattle, which it was gathered were still in embryo. He intends leaving for the east from Seattle today. The fire this summer at Coney Island, while it blotted out a portion of the New Yorker's playground, has but little interfered with the season's results.

OBITUARY NOTICES

The death occurred suddenly yesterday afternoon at the family residence on Edward street, Victoria West.

The late Mrs. Oldershaw, an old and well known resident of this city, and trelic of Alfred Oldershaw, was up till noon yesterday, apparently in her usual health, when suddenly she was stricken with pains in the region of her heart, to which she succumbed even before the doctor was able to arrive. This sudden blow has come as a great slock to her family and relatives and also a great surprise to mourn her loss consist of one son. A. Bruce Oldershaw, who is engaged in the jewelry business in this city, and three daughters, Mrs. (Dr.) A. R. Baker of Vancouver and Mrs. Robert Ward and Mrs. J. W. W. Cherry, both of Victoria.

The speaker was W. Dobson, a New Yorker who has been interested for a number of years in various amusement ventures in both the United States and Canada. Mr. Dobson has been visiting Seattle with a view to ascertain the possibilities of that city in this regard and he yesterday paid a flying trip to Victoria. He was delighted with the place. While the possibilities of the Gorge appealed to the owner of a "chute the chutes" concession at the great New York playground, Coney Island, and the various stretches of water lying around the city seemed wasted to the man who did much to make the great inland "Coney Islands" at Buffalo and Charlottee near Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Dobson stated that his visit to this city was one entirely of pleasure.

ASK FOR FERRY AT ESQUIMALT

Deputation From Colwood District Waits Upon Premier McBride 4 1 1

Jutation from Colwood, including Captain Gosse, G. Heatherbell and J. Shaver, accompanied by J. Jardine, M. P. P. for Esquimalt; H. D. Helmcken and Mr. Smith, manager of R. Ward & Co., waited on Premier McBride and the Hon. F. J. Fulton, chief commissioner of lands and works yesterday by appointment, to consider the question of a ferry for passengers and teams across Esquimalt harbor. It was pointed out that a ferry at this point would shorten the distance between Victoria and Colwaad by nearly five miles and would also open up a market for farmers' produce in the rapidly advancing district of Victoria West. Such a ferry, it is claimed, would be of great benefit to the farmers of Metchosin, Sooke and East Sooke as well as those from Otter Point and other parts of the district. Two hundred and fifty acres in the neighborhood are now being platted and will be offered in five and ten acre blocks for fruit growing. The operation of a ferry, it is claimed, will give a great impetus to fruit growing. The operation of a ferry, it is claimed by 350 people asking that the provincial government take some action in the matter was received by the provincial authorities.

The deputation was most courteously received and given a hearing by the premier and chief commissioner, who promised to look into the matter. It is probable that several members of the deputation will accompany the premier to view the scene of the proposed ferry. The only obstacle in the way of the proposal is whether such a ferry would receive a revenue sufficient to warrant its establishment.

Local Oriental Theatre Opens With Large Crowds in Attendance

The Chinese theatrical season in Victoria is in full swing. The theatre devoted exclusively to performances by Oriental actors in the little alley off Cormorant street has been opened for the season. The initial performance took place on Saturday evening before a crowded house and this week large audiences are gathering to listen to the entertainment provided by the company headed under the direction of Ching Sing Wung of Vancouver and just how long present engagement will last is problematical. It all depends on the receipts, as Chung Sing Wung nailvely admitted last evening. The company consists of twenty-two males and five females.

Ing. The company consists of twenty-two males and five females.

The drama at present being produced has an unpronouncable and unspellable Oriental name and Chung Sing Wung is authority for the statement that it has no English interpretation. The play presented last night was a sort of comedy and to Judge from the interest manifested by the audience it was a success in this respect, though to the Occidentals in the audience, and there were quite a few of them, the humor was apparently very subtle and beyond their comprehension. A Chinese drama is a sort of a historical romance and continues for an indefinite period, an act being presented nightly. The performance commences at 7 o'clock and lasts till midnight, but the audience do not, coming and going as they please.

No scencry is used and the stage is entirely bare with the exception of the place for the orchestra, which occupies a prominent position at the back of the stage, and a few chairs and tables. There is no curtain and no wings and stage hands move around in perfect view of the audience. At the back are the entrances on either side from where the actors make their appearances and exits. The performers wear costumes suited to their roles and some of these are quite elaborate.

FARMERS HEAR GOOD ADDRESSES

Mr. Kydd and Miss Rose Speak stitute

On Monday evening last a small audience gathered in the beautiful hall in the Colwood district, when W. J. Kydd addressed the people present on the subject of horse-breeding, and Miss Laura Rose, of the dairy department at the Ontario Agricultural college, followed with an excellent dissertation on "The Cow and the Care of Milk and Cream." The efforts of both speakers were admirable, and it is to be regretted that the meeting had not been better advertised and attended, but in spite of the slender attendance, the enthuasiam of the speakers and the carnestness with which they threw themselves into the subject, showed how thoroughly they had the cause of their respective branches of agriculture at heart.

Mr. Kydd began with the statement how thoroughly they had the cause of their respective branches of agriculture at heart.

Mr. Kydd began with the statement that of all the branches of agriculture in Canada, horse-breeding had been the most neglected, and he strongly urged his hearers to increase their interest in the raising of the heavy draught horse, pointing out that it was, of all the farm stock, the first to earn its feed, and that small blemishes were less apt to militate against a ready and profitable sale of this class of animals as compared to roadsters and saddle horses. The good heavy draught farm horse did not require so long a period of training as the "fancy article." The speaker then went on to enumerate the three breeds of draught horses from which the farmer could draw his stock, Cyldsdales, Shires and Suffolk Punches, and alluded to the remarkably fine specimen of the latter class which had been exhibited at the New Westminster show. Mr. Kydd went on to expound the good points to be observed in buying new stock of this class, and followed with a most interesting survey of all—important question of "sheelng," and incidently touched upon a question which the writer would fain see the Society for the Prevention of Cruelity to Animals take a lively interest in, namely, the desirability of having some certificate of efficiency from the men who undertake to either make or mar the usefuness of the horse by shoeing.

If the human family have suffered many things from the ignorance of the shoemaker as to the anatomy of the human foot in days gone by, what do our equine friends suffer at the hands of ignorant shoeingsmiths? The speaker pointed out, by means of a large diagram, used by way of illustration what nature had intended ands of ignorant shoeingsmiths? The speaker pointed out, by means of a large diagram, used by way of illustration, what nature had intended when endowing the horse with a frog or cushion to break the jar, on delicate tendons, and easily damaged carillige. He showed the construction of the horse's foot, shorn of the hoof, and deprecated the ruthless slashing of the frog and adjacent parts. From the subject of the hoof and its treatment, he passed to the value of the fat-legged animal, to the difficulty of treating ring-bone and kindred diseases, from this he branched off to the causes of dental trouble with the horse, its curious method of mastication, and similar topics.

Miss Rose, who followed, is already will be easely the course of the causes of the cause of

In Woman's Realm

In devoting more space than formerly to the affairs of women, the Colonist is taking a step, which it is hoped our lady friends will appreciate. Any communication from them of general interest will be w2come and carefully attended to.

HERE AND THERE

The women of Victoria are very grateful to the Canadian Club for the privilege and honor of being allowed to hear Rudyard Kipling speak. While a few ladles may feel that they would like to hear-some of the great politicians or other speakers on financial or national questions who from time to time address that body, there is, perhaps, no one who could have been invited by speak here whose utterances would be of more general interest than those of the great story teller and poet. In his speech at Vancouver on Monday Mr. Kipling said: "Perhaps it is worth while to remember that the state depends on the family, and the family on the women, and the women on home."

There is in these words, few as they are, ample food for much reflection.
No words that have been spoken of the importance of woman's mission are more weighty than these.

How few hard working women realize that in performing their duties as wives and mothers in ordering their as wives and mothers in ordering their homes—very quietly and unostentatiously it may be—they are doing their part toward empire building. The more of ability and intelligence the more of purity and refinement, the more love and zeal they can put into that work the greater will be the future of the Canadian people.

Last evening the late glow in the sunset sky and the delightful mildness of the air made one long for an evening walk. In looking about for a destination the big red building at the top of Cook street awoke old memories of one friend passed into the Great Beyond and another in a home across the ocean. It was decided to take a stroll toward the Protestant Orphanage and see how the children were spend-I see how the children were spend-this beautiful evening. The noise merry laughter and the sight of litand see how the children were spending this beautiful evening. The noise of merry laughter and the sight of little boys so deep in some romping game that they did not notice the approach of a stranger sounded a note of happiness that subsequent observation fully confirmed. There is very little of the spirit of the institution to be seen or felt about the place. Mrs. Kaye, the matron, gave no sign that it was rather an inconvenient hour to call, nor any hint that after having had an especially busy day as the result of the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Committee she was unusually weary. After a few minutes pleasant chat, during which it was learned that the evening meal was over, the baby was brought in. Such a bonny wee girlle, some sixteen months old, who has never known the want of mother's love and tender care, though her own poor mother ended a life of suffering more than a year ago. A visit to the kitchen and dining room showed that some of the girls were busy tidying up after supper. Here the cook and assistant matron were still busy. Forty-three sturdy boys and girts make a great deal of work no matter how well things may be managed. In a great box in the pantry were the twenty large, crisp, brown loaves of homemade bread, which would furnish the next day's supply, as baking is done only five times each week. The shelves were loaded with jams and preserved fruit to be ready for the time when the apples, plums and pears will be all gone. It was learned here that two cows and a hundred hens are kept at the orphanage and that the children enjoy on Sunday a treat of homemade butter, a luxury they keenly appreciated. From the kitchen to the laundry is but a step. Here there are tubs for hot and cold water and other washing is a very large part of the work to be done at the home.

A peen into the work to be done at the home.

A peep into the schoolroom—or rather study—for all the children attend the public school—showed some of the boys and girls already at work though the bell that called them from play had not yet sounded. One little fellow had snatched a few moments to look at a picture book while two others were poring over their grammar lesson. In another room where she could study her lessons in quiet was a little girl preparing for the Christmas High School examination. She had missed her chance of writing at midsummer on account of the measies.

s a rule children leave the Orphanage when they are able to earn their living and are not kept as formerly to assist with the harder work. This makes the control of the children a much easier matter. The girls and boys often return to their old home to spend holidays with their relatives or friends who still remain there and to meet the matron again. The dormitories with their rows of white beds were shown. In one of the beds there was a little fellow who had been obliged to lie still for the day on account of some slight allment. He had evidently quite recovered and the matron gave one of the older girls directions about making him more comfortable.

The piles of underwear showed how much work there is for the mother of this big family to look after and the baskets of stockings presented an appalling assortment of holes of all sorts and sizes.

Asked about the conduct of the acts of naughtiness did not seem to be taken seriously and their loving dispositions and willingness to render assistance are sources of much sadisfaction to their matron.

Mrs. Kaye spoke very warmly of the generosity of Victoria people saying she had never seen anything like it elsewhere. Gifts of fruit, vegetables, flour and groceries furnish a great part of the food necessary for the nourishment of the children while supplies of fuel and clothing add to their comfort. After a very pleasant hour the walk along the shaded road was made pleasant by the thought that the little ones whose lot in life might have been very dark were by the kindness of good peonle being led into paths of future usefulness. ness of good people being paths of future usefulness.

WOMAN'S WORK

WUMAN'S WURK

The first Guest day of the season at the Alexandra club was a decided success. Owing to the opening of another room there was no crowding, although a large number of ladies were present. The decorations were in shades of red-autumn leaves, sweet peas and dahlas being used. A competition in guessing the names of shades and colors was taken part in by the greater number of the guests and the prizes were won by Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Gillespie and Mrs. Raymur. A number of strangers were welcomed by the ladies and several old friends who had been absent for months received hearty greetings. Mrs. Macreary, whose late husband was a member of parliament and formerly mayor of Winnipeg, has come to Victoria and is living on Fort street.

FASHION HINTS

Fichus of silk or silk mousseline or chiffon have decided vogue. They are often worn in rather dar-ing colors.

But by one who understands the possibilities of color blending, a vive color in a fichu may be made to relieve a costume of neutral tone.

The new leather hand-bags are decidedly flat in appearance.
They are all in modish shades, and are wholly novel in shae.
All the newest wrist-bags have for a handle merely narrow strips of lea-ther, roomy enough to slip over the

Parisian Apples

Parisian Apples

Peel large apples and cut from them balls with a Parisian potato scoop. Put them over a fire as soon as peeled in a half cup of water to which have been added a quarter cupful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Cook until the apple balls are tender, heap them on rounds of buttered toast which have been spread lightly with apple jelly, strew with blanched and chopped almonds and heap with a meringue made of the whites of two eggs beaten light with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Serve cold either with or without browning the meringue. If the latter, put on the meringue some bits of bright-colored apple or crabapple jelly.

Detroit and Chicago Play Twelve Innings to a

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Detroit and Chica-co-leaders of the American and Na-lonel leagues respectively, played welve strenuous innings to a tie here oday in the first game of the series for he baseball championship of the corld. The score was 2 all. The con-est was replete with sensational situ-

National league called the play off on account of durkness most of the 24,377 spectators sighed with relief and went home well satisfied with the outcome. Overall and Donovan were the opposing pitchers, but the former was taken out when Chicago had tied the score in the ninth inning and had men on bases, waiting to score the winning runs. Moran was sent into bat for him, but before the latter had time to deliver the needed hit Evers tried to steal home and was out by a narrow margin, retiring the side. Reulbach finished the game and for three innings retired Detroit's heavy hitters without the semblance of a hit. The work of all the pitchers was first class, but Donovan had a shade on his rivals in that he struck out twelve of the opposing batsmen. His second base on balls was costly, but with good support he would have won his game. The contest was watched by an immense crowd. Close to 24,500 persons crowded into the park, the enlarged stands being packed to their capacity, while a thin fringe of enthusiasts occupied standing room in deep centre field. Whatever ground rules may have been formulated were not in evidence, as none of the nineteen hits went outside the playing space. The stands were built close up to the foul line and all around the field, except in deep right field, where the space was left open, Capt. Chance of Chicago having been fearful lest Detroit's star batsmen should drive the ball into the seats in that section. As it turned out only one hit went in that direction, and it fell far short of the barrier.

The game was called at 2.39 o'clock, but for four hours before that time a long line of would-be spectators were beseiging the gates and good naturedly struggling to be first to be through the turnstiles so as to secure points of vantage. It was an extremely good natured crowd, remarkable for its, spirit of fair play and courtesy and the fall fundired police had no trouble at cago mixing two of its errors with two hits in the eighth inning when Detroit scored all three of its runs, while the visitors returned the compliment in the next inning, allowing Chicago to the the score. Capt. Coughlin's error came in this round and was costly. With runners on first and second he let an easy grounder from Evers' but get away from him, filling the bases. After that two runs came across the pan on a passed ball, Schmidt failing to hold Howard's third strike. While this was going on Overall retired from the game and the visitors went to but in the extra inning. They had to face Reulbach's delivery in the growing darkness. The tail pitcher was in rare form, having good control, and against his curves and shoots such batsmen as Schaeffer, Crawford and Cobb were helpless.

The zame was scheduled to start at gram: "Terms satisfactory; send $500 for transportation, Columbia theatre, Oakland." The conditions of the fight are that it will be twenty rounds, the winner to receive $4,000 and the loser about $500, the contest to take place in November. Moir, says a report from London, is fit for a fight without much training, as he has been working with Hackenschmidt in wrestling exhibitions and also has been giving sparring exhibitions. Although Coffroth would like to stage the Johnson-Burns fight for Thanksgiving day, he is of no mind to offer a big purse, but would want number of high priced seats in Bonageles.

Burns, who is stopping in Oakland with his brother-in-law, L. C. Keating, says that he wisines to correct an impression that has gone out as a result of an interview in which he claims to have been misquoted.

"I did not say anything derogatory to Jack Twin Sullivan," he said. "Sullivan is a gentleman and a good fighter. I did say, however, that Jack Johnson was a quitter and I may have been misunderstood. When I saked if I would fight Jack Twin I said that I would if public sentiment demanded it, but that I did not think there was interest enough to warrant. As to Honson, I am willing to fight him, but it must be for a good-sized purse."

Will Draw Schedules for Intermediate and Junior Football Series

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Victoria District Football league on Saturday evening at the Y.M.C.A. when the schedules for the intermediate and junior series when the senior schedule was compiled in order to secure more teams but so far there has been more teams but so far there has been no response. Only two intermediate teams were in sight at that time the Victoria West and the Y.M.C.A. will not have a second team. In the junior, series the North Ward juniors, learning the year's champlons, is the only team in sight, though it is hoped toget some of the other school teams in the series.

The committee appointed at the last meeting of the executive to arrange for the referees for the various games has not been very active so far. It was intended to have the officials settled one week in advance of the games bul last week the clubs were hustling round as late as Sturday morning for the same afternoon. This week no effort has been made as yet to procure Rugby Players at Practice.

The Victoria rugby club players were out to practice yesterday afternoon at Oak Bay park, where they put in some useful work. There were quite a bunch of players in uniform and they showed little ill-effects of the hard game of Saturday. They will be out again tomorrow evening and again on Sunday morning.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The New Grand

The New Grand

This week's bill at the New Grand is pleasing. The usual crowded houses nightly, the turns which find most favor with the patrons being those of Major Doyle, the great "little man' entertainer, and Faust Brothers' comedy musical act, although all the other or numbers are good, the whole bill furnishing as pleasing an hour and as half's entertainment as one would wish to see. The little major fills up 15 minutes with a line of stories which the are as interesting as they are amusing. He also sings a couple of good funny songs, and is in every way a better entertainer than any of the other lilliputians who have visited Victoria. Faust Brothers have a regular English pantomime comedy musical act, which appeals at once to the many patrons who have had the opportunity of seeing similar turns in the old country. They introduce a variety of instruments, and the act is hilariously funny.

ments, and the act is intariously funny.

Rickrode does a sensational aerial contortion act, which earns well-deserved applause. Similar acts have been seen here before, but none better. Joe Palmer and Billy Saxton have a good Hebrew singing and talking act.
The Whitesides present a clever little travesty, entitled "Nonsense," introducing singing and buck dancing. Ernest L. Shaw has a better illustrated song than usual in "Honey Boy," and a good set of moving pictures, the overture, "Light Cavalry," by Suppe, by the orchestra, complete the programme.

MAUDE RETURNS WITH REPORT OF ACCIDENT

One Man Was Drowned, Other Narrow ly Escaped—Bigger Boat Was Threatened

The steamer Maude, which has been landing lumber and supplies at Pa-chena and establishing three surf lifeboats at Clo-oose, Banfield and Uclue-let, returned yesterday morning and further details were learned regard-ing the fatal accident, already briefly in the details were learned regarding the fatal accident, already briefly reported, which occurred during the trip. William Holness, the drowned seaman, and James isbister of Esquimalt, who is engaged at work on the turned craft he dived and swam out. Then he made his way to the over-turned boat and clambered onto it. James Doran and Thomas Young, both of Esquimalt, saw the accident and at once put out with a small double-ended dinghy from the shore. They picked up Isbister, but could find no trace of Holness. The overturned boat afterward drifted ashore and broke up.

William Holness, the drowned man, lived in a cabin in this city with a companion. He was formerly in the may and when his time expired at Esquimalt when serving on H. M. S. Egeria took up his residence here, spending some time on the Fraser liver as a fisherman. He has a mother, living at Deal, England. Children the assumance of the Steamer and we learn upon good authority that officer Evans of the Maude, who had been a shipmate of Holness on the gasoline steamer Baldy, is gathering up the effects of the drowned man, and, with his bank book, these will be sent to his mother.

The Maude lost much time on her present voyage, owing to the difficulties mother that an addition for the steamer had litted while in port a new smoking room, fourteen feet by sixteen smoking room, fourteen feet by s

The Maude lost much time on her present voyage, owing to the difficulties encountered in rafting the lumber ashore at Pachena point. The work was not difficult when favorable weather was to be had, but most of the time heavy surf was running, making the task an arduous one. The three lifeboats were established at the stations as intended but nothing has yet been done to man them. It is stated that coxswains will be appointed soon, and probably part crews will be sent from here, the intention being, for some of the boats at least, to use west coast Indians as part crews.

Crew of Cruiser Mutinies and Another Warship Subdues Malcontents

The steamer Tremont, which arrived

The steamer Tremont, which arrived yesterday afternoon from the Orient, brought news of fighting with loss of life between two Russian cruisers, the Olga and Jemchug, in the North Pacific, the Olga being in the hands of mutineers. This vessel was engaged in patrolling the sealing grounds off Copper island when the crew mutined. The Jemchug, which was one of the squadron of Rojestventsky which escaped after the battle of Tsushima, was sent on Sept. 14 from Vladivostok to quell the mutiny. The vessels fired on each other and many were killed or injured, but the details are being kept secret by the Russian authorities at Vladivostok. Revolutionists are alleged to be responsible for the burning of seven river gunboats destroyed by fire in quarters on the Amur, the losses entailed being estimated at over a million roubles. The vessels were moored by each other.

ATTACKS AN EMPRESS SEAMAN AT HONGKONG

One of White Liner's Crew is Bitten by Shark While Swimming at China Port

R. M. S. Empress of China, which is on her way to this port from Hongkong and is expected to geach port on Monday next, has on board a seaman who, according to Hong-Hongkong and is expected to teach port on Monday next, has on board a seaman who, according to Hongkong papers received yesterday by the steamer Tremont, was attacked by a shark while swimming in the harbor at Hongkong. The incident caused much excitement at Hongkong, owing to the comparative immunity from sharks previously enjoyed by bathers there. The Hongkong Press says the seaman was attacked by the shark while swimming with four others near the Empress of China, which was lying beyond Kellet island. The young sallor who was injured was floating on his back some distance away from the vessel with his arms outstretched, when suddenly his right hand was selzed by a fish of some description, and he was dragged beneath the water. In his struggle he meath the water. In his struggle he managed to release himself, but not before the flesh had been torn completely off one of his fluorer while. managed to release himself, but not before the flesh had been torn completely off one of his fingers, while two of the others were badly laceerated. When free he managed to swim to the gangway and regained the deck of the steamer. The ship's doctor dressed the injuries and at the time thought it would be necessary to amputate the little finger, and so acute was the pain that the seaman begged the doctor to remove it. Later in the day the shock, coupled with the intense pain, brought on an attack of what appeared to be temporary insanity, and the sufferer was removed to the Government Civil hospital so that he might receive better attention. There, after examination, the doctors were of opinion that the little finger could be saved, but the man's condition had not improved. While in a ward on the second floor, he rushed on the verandah and attempted to jump over, saying as he ran that he was going to dive in after the fish. Fortunately he was seized before reaching the balustrade. Evidently in his struggle under water he saw what it was had hold of him, so all the positions about a "foul" must con he reaching the balustrade. Evidently in his struggle under water he saw what it was had hold of him, so all the opinions about a "foul" must go by the board. The captain of the steamer, the pilot and the doctor, are thoroughly convinced that the unfortunate man was attacked by a denizen of the deep, for the marks of the fish's teeth were visible on the wounded hand. This opinion has been confirmed by the hospital doctors.

DAMAGES FROM RUSSIA

Claim of $20,000 Made by Fishing Company for Being Driven From Okhotsh Sea

While the United States government has pending a number of claims by sealers, some living in this city, for selzures and interference with American sealing schooners on the high seas while they were peaceably sealing, a settlement having been made to the tune of $425,000 for the seizures of Canadian vessels, a claim has just been put forward by the Union Fish company against the Russian government for $20,000 damages on account of losses caused by the interference with the company's fishing vessels in Okhotsch sea, the claim involving the same question as those advanced by the sealers.

close was 59 5-8c. Local receipts, 448 as compiled by the New York produce Cars, with 125 cars of contract grade Oats were stronger, largely as a regult of the strength in corn. The like-Mhood that primary receipts will soon become much smaller helped to create firmness. Offerings were light. December opened 1-8@1-4c lower, at 53 1-4@ 353-8c, sold to 54 1-2c and closed at 54 1-8c. Local receipts were 254 cars.

There was very little trade in provisions, and the market was steady throughout the entire session. At the close January pork was up 5c, $15.55, Lard was up 2 1-2c to 5c at $$5.52 1-2. Ribs were 2 1-2c higher at $7.92 1-2. Estimates for tomorrow: Wheat, $7.5 corn, 249; oats, 161 cars; hogs, $25,000 head.

New York, Oct. 8.—Fluctuations in prices of stocks were quite wide today, and the purposes of the professional traders were thus better served than in the lethargic market which has prevalled for several days. The drawback was that the fluctuations became rather feverish and erratic, making it difficult even for the room traders to take advantage of the opportunities. The dealings offered nothing of significance outside this narrow professional area.

jects. One was for suspending whale ishing during the summer months, so as to form a close senson for the purpose of increasing the stock of fish. This idea was rejected on the ground that whale fishing in Japan being still in its infancy, the time was inopportune for such limitations, and further investigation would be necessary. The second proposal was the formation of a subordinate company, whose functions would be the handling of the meat of the whales captured by the associates of the original union. This was approved of, and it was resolved that the curing company should have a capital of a million yen, and should MARINE NOTES
